AFTER 44 YEARS

The Claims of the Sisseton and Wahpeton Bands of Sioux Indians are Declared to be Valid.

Washington, April 23.—The United States court of claims on Monday rendered a judgment in favor of loyal members of the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux Indians and against the government for the sum of $788,971.

The claims were based on the treaty of July 23, 1851, by the terms of which the government agreed to pay these Indians $305,000 and an annuity of $75,000 for 50 years. The payments were regularly made until 1863. During the preceding year an outbreak of the Sioux occurred in which they committed many depredations and outrages upon the settlers in Minnesota.

In 1863 congress passed an act forfeiting these annuities to the government, but subsequently from time to time made appropriations for the benefit of some of the Indians who had not been engaged in the uprising. By an act approved June 21, 1896, congress authorized the court of claims to determine what amount would now be due to the Indians who had not taken part in the depredations, had not the forfeiture act of 1863 been passed. It also authorized the secretary of the interior to pay the sum found due to the loyal Indians, per capita, after deducting partial payments that had from time to time been made.

It is assumed that the $788,971 will be paid to the surviving peaceable Indians in the near future.

Beck, was on Monday continued indefinitely by Judge Dillon, and the jury selected to try the case was excused from any consideration of it before being sworn. The reason assigned by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney McCoy for the request for a continuance, was the absence of Nelson A. Cannon and wife. The defense accepted the proposition, with the distinct understanding that they be given sufficient notice of the reassignment of the case.

Six other persons who were on the schooner when it capsized were rescued.

The men left Philadelphia early in the afternoon for Mahon's Ditch, in Delaware Bay, for a load of oysters. When off Lincoln park, a few miles above this city, the craft was struck by a stiff breeze which threw the vessel on its side. Before the captain could right the schooner another gust of wind struck it and the boat capsized. The three men who lost their lives were in the cabin at the time of the accident and were unable to escape on account of the rushing water. The other members of the crew who were on deck were picked up by a passing vessel and brought to this city.

Is Found in the Capitalization of Minnesota Railroads—A Legislative Committee Reports.

St. Paul, April 23.—Railroad property in Minnesota is valued at $215,000,000 by the Sundberg investigating committee which returned its report Monday to the Minnesota senate. This is approximately $27,000 a mile. The property is capitalized to the extent of $400,000,000, or $50,000 a mile on an average. The net earnings, according to the committee's findings, averaged over $5,000 a mile last year, or 18 per cent. on the committee's valuation.

The committee, which consists of Senators Sundberg, Cashman, Cane-storp, Nelson and Sageng, recommends that a "committee of three be empowered to investigate generally into the capitalization of the railroads of Minnesota and the relation the stocks and bonds bear to the value thereof, and the enactment of such appropriate legislation as the conditions disclosed demand."

The report says that to arrive at the cost of producing and equipping the different lines in their present condition the committee considered:

"First, the original cost of construction; second, the cost of improvements, betterments and equipment added since; third, the cost and character of the lines recently built; fourth, the expense of operating and the earnings under existing rates; fifth, the stocks and bonds and the value and water thereof; sixth, the geography of the line and the judgment displayed in its location."

A large section of the report is devoted to a drastic review of the Chicago Great Western. This road, it says, "was built by A. B. Stickney, who raised the funds by acquiring, organizing, reorganizing and 'harrimanizing' divers and sundry corporations of Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois."

The capital stock and funded debt of the road is $143,668 a mile and the committee figures its value at $28,000 a mile. In its latest report the Chicago Great Western Co. certified that the line and equipment cost $98,011 a mile, and in its statement there is an item, "purchase of constructed road, $44,944.45 a mile. This would mean $50,000,000 for the whole line. In 1891 there was reported for 'purchase of constructed road, $6,313,191.52.' It was then 815 miles long. 'Fifteen years later,' says the committee, 'this elastic item had been stretched to $50,594,344.28, but the whole line had shrunk 60 miles in length. It had been watered too much.'"

Travelled 60 Miles in a Balloon.

Matawan, N. J., April 23.—A balloon which left Philadelphia at 12:45 o'clock Monday afternoon landed here at 2:15, having covered 60 miles in an hour and a half. In the balloon were A. R. Hawley, a New York broker, and Arthur T. Atherholt, of Philadelphia. It was Hawley's seventh balloon trip, while Atherholt had made three previous aerial voyages. The balloon reached an altitude of 12,000 feet. The sight of open water and a fear that the strong wind might carry the balloon out to sea, caused the determination to land. The balloon landed in a creek.

Henpecked King of Beasts.
"Should some of the strenuous ladies of the United States happen to visit a zoological garden," said the animal painter, "they would be encouraged in their contempt of man. The lion is often lauded as the creature of preeminent courage. But in domestic life he isn't a circumstance compared with the Honesty. When she smiles, he humbly approaches and fawns upon her. When she frowns, he lingers trembling in the corner. And if perchance she emits a growl, he crouches close to the floor until her majesty may feel in better humor. No, indeed. Many human husbands may feel that their wives are inclined to dominate. But of complete subservience of male to female the king of beasts is the most striking example."

OHLS WALL PAPER
"Another new hat?" asked her husband, in an ominously pleasant voice. "You had a new one last week, too." "Same hat, my dear," replied his wife, with delicate well-bred calm. "Oh, come now. I may not know much about women's goods, but that hat had a flaring brim that turned straight up, all around, while this one droops like an umbrella. You can't fool all the public all the time." "I'm fooling one of them part of the time. The brim did turn up. It is true, but that was last week. This week the mushroom shape is the impressive demand of fashion, so I simply mushroomed my hat by pulling down the brim. No extra charge, my dear."
